Ginning Smaller Than Expected, Encouraging Upturn Bears More Cautious.

Friday afternoon, Oct. 25. Something of a surprise was given the trade this morning when the gin ning figures were announced, the amount being about 200,000 bales less than a private bureau's estimate, which was the chief basis for what the trade ing of futures was credited to anticipamovement. The bulge extended nearly

The department amounted that to Oct. Is there had been gimied 6.730,002 which compared with abiles instyear and 7,303,163 two years ago. It was expected that figures would be smaller on account of labor troubes and the influence epidemic, although the latter did not figure much on account of it having spread that should the time the period closed. The builts therefore were encouraged by the showing.

The market was also in pretty good shape for some recovery, the dedines having gone quite a distance and the discounting process being thorough. There was little incentive left for the bears, as spots, with all of their inactivity and come eastness, had not declined anything like as much as futures and were still at considerable premium. Chance of getting cation to delivery centers in volume was small and the absence of marked weakness among the holders tended to cause those who were short to be more capations.

was 75,000 bales, including 48,000 American.

At the opening on this side prices were up some, but December in New York dipped back to the previous close before starting upward on covering based on the smaller ginning than expected. Its high noint was 20,90, after having been as low as 29,34, but it reacted from the top and kept within a range of about 30 points. October expired at noon at 50 points above last night's close. More activity was shown in January and it narrowed its discount with December by a few points. The weather map showed more rains in the belt, chiefly in the eastern section, and the forecast promised more in all parts. Some coolet may come, but there did not seem much reason for expecting frost of consequence. The prospects, at least were not such as to be a market influence.

Spots were a little better in tone and at a few centers quotations were elevated slightly. With saless small. In Theer was a renewal of hedge selling at the start, but first prices were firm and after opening unchanged to 22 points higher, active months seen sold 50 to 60 points above last night's closing figures with December touching 25.00c and January 25.30c. The rensus report showed only 5.709.003 bales ginned to October 18, compared with 5.53.508 last year and 7.303.131 two years ago. The trade had been looking for a report of a little over seven million bales and the figures revived confidence in the smaller estimates of the yield although some cianned that ginning had been rearricted to some extent by the influence and the shutting down of gins in some localities as a result of congestion at the Ol mills.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25.—Smaller ginning returns than expected caused a rapid rise in the price of cotton, beginning with the first call today. In the first half of business the trading months were sent 50 to 62 points over the level of yesterday's close.

A quiet but steady tone prevailed in the afternoon and at 1 o'clock prices were 41 to 47 points up net.

The market quieted down and early buyers were inclined to even-up, which resulted in a small reaction. At the middle of the day the trading months were at a net rise of 40 points.

Hancock sent the following wire to Moyse & Holmes, New York: "After 8-cent decline have reversed views as to effect peace. English exporters here tell me England would immediately take 730,000 bales in order protect her trade. With either peace or war a small crop inevitable next year as labor scarcity becomes more acute each day. Am very favorable to cotton at these prices." It brought the following repair: "Same here, those persistently selling discount must eventually pay penalty."

Grain. Chicago—Hints of a fairly liberal hog price and the upturn in January provisions feature. Car situation shows some improvement in sections. Cash corn firm. Good buying of lard by tre government is reported. Guesses on the probable price for hogs range from 17 to 17 becents. A very liberal mini-sum price seems to be expected. A li-cent net price would represent about $1.1a to $1.20 for No. 4 corn. This applies only to about 30 per cent of the corn crop which is used in feeding logs.—Wagner & Co.
